January 14, 2004 LR 4

But I will tell you, there are people in this state that this is number one on their radar screen this year, and it has quite a following. And I have no problem with believing that this would pass overwhelmingly in all 49 legislative districts. So with that, I do have a bracket motion, Mr. President. I'm not going to turn it in until anybody who wants to speak on this and has their light on, wants to speak. So with that, I will give the rest of my time back to the Chair.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Thank you, Senator Schrock. On with discussion on advancement of LR 4CA. Senator Combs.

SENATOR COMBS: Thank you, Mr. President. I echo what Senator Schrock has said. I know there are concerns in here about adding this to the constitution. However, I still want to be on the record to reiterate that the right to hunt, trap, and fish is a time-honored tradition, part of our heritage, and certainly, with 32 words, I say is more than worthy to be recognized in the constitution. Six states already do have the constitutional amendments to protect the right to hunt and fish, so this is not like we're operating in a vacuum here in the Nebraska Unicameral: North Dakota, Alabama, Vermont, Virginia, Minnesota, Wisconsin. The most recent, Wisconsin, was by 80 percent voter approval. Minnesota was by 75 percent. A number of states besides us have legislation pending: Missouri, Iowa, Oklahoma, Indiana, Texas, Michigan, New York. Active efforts to do the same are going on now also: Alaska, Oregon, Washington, Utah, Arizona, and Georgia. So you see that we are not operating in a vacuum. There certainly are other states who, for the same reasons that we have given, do want to protect the right to hunt, trap, and fish. And as comments were made before about PETA showing up in the lobby, encouraging us not to eat beef, these are not the people for eating tasty animals. These are the people who come in and...animal rights activists, and at any time we are subject to being denied our right to do these things through the activities of special interest groups. And I know that we probably will not get to the next amendment, which was Senator Chambers' amendment to prevent us from killing Martians. But I did want to make a comment that there are two Martians that have come to Earth that I believe should be protected, and that being Warner Brothers' Marvin Martian, and
